THE REVIEW is entered at post office in Portland, Oregon, as mail matter of the second class under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

The American boys at the front are fully maintaining their reputation as fighters. The Huns are rapidly finding this out. Let us do all we can to aid our brave boys at the front.

There is considerable complaint about the high prices of substitutes for wheat flour, but as soon as the government can get around to it, the probabilities are that a limit will be placed on these also and their skyward flight curbed. The government really should have been prepared to do this before ordaining its present substitute decree. Uncle Sam has had his hands full, but he will soon put the clamps on food profiteering. In the meantime he patient. The substituting is a necessity else Uncle Sam would not have required it of us.

Let me be a little kinder.
Let me be a little blinder.
To the faults of those about me.
Let me praise a little more;
Let me be, when I am weary,
Just a little bit more cheery.
Let me serve a little better,
Those that I am striving for.
Let me be a little braver
When temptation bids me waver;
Let me strive a little harder
To be all that I should be;
Let me be a little meeker
With the brother that is weaker;
Let me think more of my neighbor,
And a little less of me—Ex.

If the Constitution of the United States is to be amended to provide for national prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor, three-fourths of the 48 states comprising the Union must declare in favor of the amendment, each by a majority vote in its Legislature. The record of the states on this question now stands as follows: Number necessary to carry amendment, 33. Number that have voted in favor, 8. Number that have voted against, 9. Number that have yet to vote, 40. Number needed of those yet to vote, 28. States that have ratified, in order of ratification, with date: Mississippi—Jan. 9, Virginia—Jan. 10, Kentucky—Jan. 14, South Carolina—Jan. 17, North Dakota—Jan. 24, Maryland—Feb. 13, Montana—Feb. 19, Texas—March 4.

During the year 1917 some 320 acres of the right of way and other lands of the Oregon Washington Railroad & Navigation Company, western unit of the Union Pacific System, were planted to vegetables. These railroad war gardens varied in size, and were tilled by more than one thousand employees. Many employees are home owners, and they planted vegetables in lieu of flowers and spiced up their lawns to grow food products. More war gardens will be planted this spring. The employees who used company lands last year have asked for the privilege of using them again. In many instances their applications were filled during the fall months. Fertilizers are being put on the land and arrangements made to irrigate. Present indications are that all the company land available will be under cultivation this year. As an aid to the gardeners, C. L. Smith, agriculturist of the company, has prepared a booklet giving information as to the preparation of the soil, fertilizing, seed selection, the correct method of planting and cultivation and other valuable advice. This booklet is free and may be had by application to the General Passenger Agent of the company in Portland.

A list of names just printed shows that up to February 9, 1918, four hundred and fifty employees of the Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation Company have joined the colors and are now in the service of the government. Of this number 283 were in the employ of the Company at various places in Oregon, 156 were employed at different points in Washington, and 10 are credited to Idaho. The railroad men have been assigned to service in practically every branch of the army and navy. Some of them are with the Expeditionary Forces in France, others are on the battlefields, and some in training at the cantonments, with the expectation of leaving for Europe at any time. Among the first men to enter fighting zone were the railroad engineers, who have been on active duty for some time. Other enlistments have been made since the list was prepared, and the railroad is well represented among by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. Which tube is situated between the middle ear and the throat. If you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; and once lost it can never be regained. It is only a matter of time before you are completely deaf. We will give you One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular free.
